More on the fundamentals of climate change:

- Dr. Katharine Hayhoe, well-renown climate scientist, IPCC contributor and excellent communicator, has a YouTube channel called “Global Weirding”. You can find the listing of all brief episodes here: https://www.youtube.com/playlist?list=PLwNT4Fr0\_4CRIYFj3hZPVSaVYZfk9YQM4. Look at a few that sound interesting and observe also how she communicates. (While mostly US and North America focused, her explanation of the science applies everywhere!)
- The Common Sense Educator’s Climate Change Resources for Students and Teachers provides access to many valuable sites where you can learn about climate change (and for teachers and students also access to lots of great exercises): <https://www.common sense.org/education/top-picks/climate-change-resources-for-students-and-teachers>
- US National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration’s Climate.gov has a section that educates about the basics of climate change: <https://www.climate.gov/teaching>. There is lots to explore there and all resources are reviewed.
- Learning more about the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change, go here: <https://www.ipcc.ch/>
